The short answer: someone visiting a club’s site wants to know when the next match is, how the last one went and how to sign up. That fits a light site, with text tables and shrunk photos, and the entry plan will do. The work is in someone updating it every week.

What the site needs

What	What to do
Fixtures and results	As text (a table), not an image: it opens quickly on a phone and Google reads it. Update it on match day.
News and photographs	A short report per match, with a few light photos: Image optimisation .
Teams and squad	Names and photos of minors are personal data. Ask parents or guardians for permission: Personal data protection .
Sign-ups and fees	A simple form is enough to sign up. For fees paid on the site, it is already an area with login: Which plan for a members area .
How to get there and contacts	The ground’s or hall’s address as text, training times and a WhatsApp button: Putting WhatsApp on your site .

Getting started

1

Start with the entry plan and a site with fixtures, results, teams and contact.

2

Name who updates it (one person, with a stand-in) and when: the day after each match.

3

Put the site address on all the club's social pages and on posters: Do you need a website if you already have Instagram or Facebook?.

4

Test on a phone, which is where most people see the results: A light site on mobile data.

5

Review the plan if there are broadcasts, many videos or a shop for shirts: Which plan for a shop.

An out-of-date calendar is worse than none. Someone who turns up to a postponed match does not trust it again. If you cannot update it, put "see our social pages for the calendar" where it can be seen.

On final days or big matches the site may get a peak: a light page copes better.

Preparing for a traffic spike.

In our plans

Situation	Plan	Why
Start: fixtures, results, teams and contacts as text, with light photos	Pro	1 site, 10 GB NVMe SSD and unlimited e-mail accounts on the club's domain, one per team or role
A club with youth sections, or a league with a site per competition	Plus	6 sites and 20 GB NVMe SSD, with 200 e-mails per hour for notices to members
Many seasons of match photos, videos and a shirt shop	Ultra or Business	unlimited sites and 30 to 200 GB NVMe SSD

WHEN TO MOVE UP: Move up when the match photos and videos of several seasons fill the 10 GB (Disk Usage in cPanel shows it), when a section or competition deserves its own site, or when a notice to all the members reaches the 100 e-mails per hour of the Pro plan. If you open a members area with login or a shirt shop, read the articles on those first. Moving up can be done at any time and the site is not lost.
